DEPARTMENT OF SOCIOLOGY AND ANTHROPOLOGY UNIVERSITY OF OTTAWA

Two Replacement Faculty Positions

The Faculty of Social Sciences comprises nine departments, schools and institute, offering undergraduate, masters and doctoral programs in both English and French. With over 9,000 students, 260 full-time professors, and a wide array of programs and research centres, the Faculty of Social Sciences plays a key role at the heart of the University of Ottawa. Its graduate students are trained by excellent researchers and undertake cutting-edge research in the Faculty's Master's and Ph.D. programs.

The Faculty of Social Sciences welcomes applications for two replacement positions in its Department of Sociology and Anthropology.

Courses to be taught will be principally in the following fields:

- In anthropology: methodology, geographical areas (i.e., Africa, Asia, Oceania), and native peoples.
- In sociology: quantitative and qualitative methodology, deviance, classical sociological theory and theorists.

DUTIES

- Teach mainly at the undergraduate level and according to the need, at the graduate levels
- Participate in academic and administrative activities
- Perform other activities as specified in the collective agreement

QUALIFICATIONS

- Hold a Ph.D. in Sociology or Anthropology (candidates who are close to completing a Ph.D. could be considered)
- Demonstrate excellence or the potential for excellence in teaching and research
- The capacity to teach in both languages constitutes an asset

BILINGUALISM

The University of Ottawa is a bilingual institution, and all professors in the Faculty of Social Sciences must be actively bilingual (French and English). Active bilingualism at the time of hiring is an asset.
